OAKLAND COUNTY

More snow expected after major winter storm

Neighborhoods proving trickiest part of commute

After shoveling out from Michigan's biggest snowfall in four decades, Oakland County residents can prepare for another possible four inches over the next few days.

The National Weather Service in White Lake said snow should arrive about 9 p.m. Tuesday overnight, leaving up to 2 inches of new snow. Then Wednesday through Thursday, forecasters are calling for another 2 inches, adding to more than a foot of snow that fell Sunday.

"These are clippers coming in this week," said Rachel Kulik.

The weather service describes clippers as fast-moving low pressure systems out of southwest Canada that through the Plains, Midwest, and Great Lakes regions.

Temperatures this week will hover in the 20s until Thursday, expected to be bitterly

Two children and their mother are being treated for smoke inhalation after they were pulled from a burning apartment in Pontiac by firefighters.

Crews from the Waterford Regional Fire Department responded at 12:50 p.m. Monday to Auburn Village Townhomes, which is on East Walton near Perry Street.

Capt. Matt Nye said fire crews found heavy smoke coming from the second floor.

They searched the building and found the mother and children and removed them from the third-floor apartment.

Fire Marshal Matt Covey said two apartments are not able to be occupied due to

A Waterford man died early Monday in a snowmobile accident in White Lake.

John Holland, 43, died of multiple injuries, said officials with the Oakland County Medical Examiner's Office.

White Lake Police said the accident occurred at 1:20 a.m. in Pontiac Lake State Recreation Area three-quarters of a mile west of Williams Lake Road on Gale Road.

Snowmobiles are permitted on the trail in question, police said, but wheeled motorized vehicles are prohibited.
